Summer Robotics Camp

The library hosted its 3rd Robotics Camp this past summer. Students in the sold out camp learned how to design and code their own robots. Afterwards, students were able to take home their fully functioning obstacle avoiding robot.

After-school Robotics Program

The library makerspace is offering an after school program for students. Students will learn basic 3D design, 3D printing, coding, and introductory robotics. For more information visit, https://laverne.libapps.com/libguides/admin_c.php?g=721547&p=6767716

Exceptional Engineers: A Robotics Club for Neurodiverse Learners

The Wilson Library Makerspace is partnering with the Center for Neurodiversity, Learning and Wellness to offer a robotics club that emphasizes innovative technology and hands on learning for neurodiverse learners.
